

Activity 2

Assessment test

On the basis of what you've read in this chapter so far, give yourself ten minutes to complete the test below. The test is available electronically at www.criticalpublishing.com/the-new-apprenticeships.

Complete the gaps

1. A assessment is one that actually measures what it claims to.
2. Assessing driving skills using a two-week open-book exam would be a/an method.
3. The more a technique allows for personal interpretation by the assessor, the less it becomes.
4. Assessment that occurs at intervals throughout the course is described as
5. Whereas exams are assessment strategies, open discussion is more
6. referencing compares the same student's previous performances with their present one.
7. Assessment concerned with players' accuracy with the ball and passing skills rather than on whether the team won would be focusing on
8. Relating an individual student's achievement to that of the group they are a member of is known as referencing.
9. Giving a student a percentage mark would be to use referencing.
10. Dismantling and reassembling an engine in a college motor vehicle workshop is more than looking at a diagram in a classroom but not as as dismantling and re-assembling a car engine in a garage.

The answers are provided at the back of the book.

What was your mark out of 10?

Were you pleased, disappointed, surprised by this score?

Did you have a response when you saw the phrase 'assessment test'?

Did you think this was a valid and reliable assessment of your understanding of the features and principles of assessment?
